Implementation Task 18: Determining Where You Want To Go

Review Module 7, then list the critical success factors for your business and the measurement you've decided to use for each. Then for each measurement list at least one objective. For each objective, list as many goals as you need to accomplish the objective. (Note: You could determine that for some critical success factors, you may need more than one measurement/objective to make the progress needed. However, be careful not to diffuse your focus and ability to execute with too many objectives.)
